MOONSHINERS SCRAP; JUGGED

Drunken With New-made Wine, Gang of Mexicans Attack Wood Haulers—Sheriff Raids and Finds Complete Wine Plant

Interne strife at the factory disclosed to the sheriff's office the fact Phoenix had become a manufacturing center for booze. What was first thought would turn out merely a little half portion of riot among Mexicans on South Seventh avenue near the river, became upon investigation, a raid on a still, Two moonshiners, Louis Fausone, an Italian market-gardener, and A. Toledo, were arrested last evening in connection with the affair.

The details:
John Massey and an aged Mexican, Francisco Castillo, were returning from the river with a load of wood.
Near a little jacal on the avenue, they were beset by seven drunken Mexicans, who began unloading the wood and hammering its owners.
Francisco had his hand nearly torn off in the fray. Massey escaped and phoned Deputy Sheriff Jim Murphy, who with Brakeman Day of the Espee, hurried to the scene in an auto. Murphy found Fausone and Toledo and arrested them. Others lay about drunk. Fausone admitted making wine, and Murphy came to town, got Sheriff Adams and a Chambers auto truck, and went back to the jacal. There, in the presence of the press, they loaded two huge casks of perfectly good intoxicant and one of wine mash, just in process of fermenting, and brought them to town. The scene was one over which a movie man would have had fits. Little low celled palm thatched hut, cluttered with boxes of carrots and other evidences of the market's trade, and in every conceivable corner, the tools for turning out "vino." Bottles are jugs of liquor, funnels, strainers, wine presses, and as aforesaid, casks of the product, equipped with handy faucets, and with plenty of drinking cups, were added to the supply of evidence.

Fausone and Toledo will be examined today, and confronted with numerous just-sobered witnesses, to establish if possible their manufacture and sale of intoxicants.

NOTARY PUBLIC—Secretary of

WANT HUNT TO ESCORT BELL—The officials who have charge of the transportation of the Liberty Bell from California to its home in Philadelphia, have asked Governor Hunt to accompany the bell on its way through the borders of the state of Arizona, but inasmuch as the most of the bell's trip through the confines of this state will be made under the cover of darkness, the chief executive has firmly but respectfully declined to participate in the festivities incident to the coming of the old-timer, and prefers to enjoy his night's rest to making night excursions over the state in company with the cracked and hallowed relic.

ORANGE MEN TO CONVENE TODAY

Third and Most Important Meeting of Citrus Growers to Be Occasion for Further Discussion of the Market Situation

The final meeting for the completion of the most effective co-operative plan yet started among valley citrus men will take place at the Hotel Adams at 2:30 this afternoon.
In a way, today's session will be a continuation of the meeting of Monday, and the third of a series of such meetings.

Citrus growers from all parts of the valley are expected to be present today, when the vitally important topic of markets is brought up. An effort is being made to systematize production, adopt rigid standards, and to raise to a high level the class of product here. This being accomplished, the growers hope, and indeed, expect, a great revision of market methods, that will insure to the benefit of everyone in the game.

A further discussion of the citrus canker, which has never appeared here, but which is menacing other orange districts, is expected to produce strong resolutions favoring quarantine and protective measures.

JUST ONE MORE TIME AND THEN THE LIMIT

Should J. F. Biehl ever again be arrested on an embezzlement charge he will get the full penalty of the law.
This has been promised him by the county attorney's office and Judge de Souza, before whom he appeared yesterday, on an embezzlement charge.
Upon the request of the complaining witness, Jeff Duncan, Assistant County Attorney Leon S. Jacobs, asked that the case against Biehl and J. F. Greenough be dismissed, it being one in which a compromise may be effected and at the same time he read the riot act to Biehl declaring that the payment of money on embezzlement would not save him another time.

Judge de Souza in dismissing the action, said that just one month ago Biehl had been arrested for embezzlement on complaint of Frank Balanato, the amount involved in this instance being $40.50. He referred sarcastically to Biehl's method of doing business.

"It was made clear to Mr. Biehl that his offense is serious," said the judge, "and yet within the period of a month he repeated the misdemeanor. There will be no escape next time."
